UP THERE, RICKY!

YOU don't have to play in the VFL or even the WAFL to take "screamers"... as Armadale wingman Ricky Hill proves here.

This spectacular photographic series was captured by BARRY BAKER at a Sunday Football League match and must rank as one of the all-time great marking pictures.

Hill is kneeling comfortably on the shoulders of his South Perth opponent, Neil Howard... and came back to earth safely with the football tucked to his chest.

That great Port Derby... and our top cover in words and pictures is inside.

Eagles pair face a test

PART-time forwards Andrew Lockyer and Peter Sumich have the chance to enhance their somewhat flagging VFL reputations when the Collingwood army comes to town on Sunday.

The club with the biggest following in Australia and the meanest supporters of all, will aim to unleash that venom on a West Coast Eagles side that is under a bad-luck spell.

Eagles coach John Todd believes that he has found the lady with the voodoo doll — and says that their luck must turn shortly.

He goes into Sunday's game badly short on big men and hoping that Phil Scott comes through a final fitness test to take the place of the enthusiastic, but unlucky, David O'Connell.

Todd knows that Lockyer and Sumich did reasonably well in the key forward positions last week — after shaky starts.

"But they have to go on with it," says Todd.

Angry reaction

"Sumich got angry when I took him off last week and he certainly lifted when he went back into attack. Lockyer has been playing negative football in defence and he responded to the challenge of returning to the forward line.

"But if he can just turn the clock back and start again, then there's no reason why he can't succeed at centre-half-forward," said Todd.

Just over 20,000 people at Subiaco Oval last Sunday tried to roar the Eagles over the line. That they failed by five points means the Eagles now have to atone against Collingwood, a team described as "pathetic" by their coach, Lethal Leigh Matthews last week.

The Magpies went down by 66 points to the VFL's scoring-machine, Geelong and Matthews felt that his players must have been suffering from broken hearts.

"At this stage the players we've got aren't doing the job," said Matthews.

Footy gossip from behind closed doors

Full of authority

THERE'S no doubting the success of Hawthorn coach Allan Jeans, a man with more than 500 VFL games as a coach to his credit. A low-profile former police sergeant, Jeans has stepped back into the Hawks coaching role this season after taking last year off with illness. He record stands at 522 games for 329 wins, 191 losses and two draws and he has held himself high in stature among the game's all-time great coaches. Members of the WA Coaches Association were privileged to listen to Jeans for 30 minutes or more after last Sunday's clash with the Eagles and his authoritative voice held them almost spellbound. His cool, precise delivery has its high and low moments, but his voice was always full of authority, with seldom a word wasted. Those who heard the master coach must have realised just why footballers achieve beyond the impossible for Jeans.

Lamb's big day

DWAYNE Lamb played his 184th senior game of football last Sunday ... but it was a fairly significant match. He became the first player to reach 50 games with the West Coast Eagles since their 1987 inception and he will obviously head an honour board of achievers that will boast some illustrious names in years to come. The Eagles' social club presented Lamb with a special trophy to mark the achievement and plans to do likewise for all 50-game players ... with Geoff Miles, Chris Mainwaring and Michael Brennan hot on his heels.

Award winners

THE West Coast Eagles had some outstanding performers in their near-miss effort against VFL premiers Hawthorn on Sunday. Dashing defender Guy McKenna, whose game had some touches of pure genius, scooped the awards pool, winning the cheer squad's best-player trophy and the club's official award. The coach's trophy went to Steve Malaxos for a top first-up game after four weeks out and the goal of the day went to Peter Sumich. The mark-of-the-day — Macca's catch-of-the-match, rather — went to Chris Mainwaring, though sponsor Denis McInerney inferred that Michael Brennan might get a share of the spoils.

Andrew Lockyer... started the Eagles fightback.

Lockyer's quick change

ANDREW Lockyer's career with the West Coast Eagles could have turned another corner against Hawthorn on Sunday. While Lockyer has been the No. 1 full-back in the last three seasons, he started the game on the interchange bench on Sunday. But it was his arrival at centre-half-forward in the second term that ignited the Eagles fight back. The former East Fremantle full-forward — he kicked 67 goals in 1985 — showed pace and strength when and were it was needed. He should now remain in what has been a trouble position fo John Todd's team.

Don't blame Breman

WITH the Eagles trailing Hawthorn by five points in the closing stages, they seemed set to win their first close game of the season when Todd Breman appeared to mark the ball on the half-forward line. Breman quickly fired out a handpass after the umpire had blown his whistle, only to discover he had not been awarded a mark, but a free-kick instead, resulting in a bounce-up by umprie ian Clayton. Breman was pushed in the back while taking the mark and Clayton did signal the free kick. But Breman didn't hear the call. "I heard nothing but the whistle and as I had my back to the umpire I didn't see hime give any directions," the former Subiaco full-forward said. "I just presumed it was a mark and played on." Hawthorn won the tap duel and forced the home team back into defence until the final siren went.

Scott fires Tigers

It has been a long time between goals for Claremont skipper John Scott. The hard-tackling Scott has been coach Gerard Neesham's first choice full-back for two seasons, but he started Saturday's clash against West Perth at Leederville Oval as a forward. "We haven't had enough talking in the forward line in recent games, so that's what I had to do," says Scott. "Gerard was going to switch Sticks (Mark) Brayshaw into the forward line, but decided he was too valuable in defence." Scott, who has not scored a goal since June 25, 1988 chipped in with two majors. His presence also helped rookies Brendon Barrows (six goals) and Peter Mann (four goals) as Claremont shook off their inaccuracies of recent week weeks to kick 27.9 — and Brayshaw was among the best on ground in defence.

Super-star Dunstall

WHAT a remarkable footballer Hawthorn's Jason Dunstall is. The fast-leading full-forward scored 7.5 in windy conditions against the West Coast Eagles last Sunday, despite being closely checked by full-back Michael Brennan. Dunstall's pace — as against WA in the State-of Origin clash at the WACA Ground last month — was the difference. The Simpson Medallist used his speed to gain front position and his hands then clamped around the ball like a vice. Brennan was certainly far from disgraced in his effort on the champ.

PHOTO ACTION

This was a ripper of a Derby

THE Foundation Day Derby on Monday was an outstanding game, with some great individual performances.

East Fremantle's Brad Rowe, in the first half, showed great pace and skill in getting clear of packs but let himself down with his kicking.

John O'Sullivan, at centre-half-back, was clearly the best player for the Sharks with his high-marking display.

Neil Lester-Smith, with six goals, showed why he is such a dangerous player.

Clinton Browning has shown in the past his ability to rise to the occasion for big games and this one was no exception.

His performance was capped off by a great mark and the winning goal that he will remember forever.

The game could have gone either way and Souths had great contributors in Willie Rioli, who continues to improve with each game, and his brother Maurice.

Maurice obviously had an injury to his preferred left kicking foot but kicked accurately and long with his right.

Craig Edwards would almost hold the mantle as the league's most valued player.

Competitive

His ruck work is second-to-none and he combines this with good marking and kicking skills to complement his very competitive nature.

The atmosphere was completely different from that at an Eagles match.

There was a real buzz among the 12,000 fans and the noise level and cheering was constant.

In an Eagles match the cheering is generally reserved for the Eagles and so 50 per cent of the time there is relative silence.

The East Fremantle members nearly brought the roof down with their cheering at various stages.

Close game!

MONDAY'S derby had a pretty hectic finish; maybe too hectic for some. Walking out of the ground I heard one bloke ask his mate: "Who won anyway?"

The spoils of a Derby victory... Sharks rover Bradley Rowe with the Foundation Day Cup.

What about Ian Newman?

PERTH staged a great fightback to topple Subiaco, but it was achieved without a full-forward.

Ian Newman, who is playing in the Perth reserves and stands about 200cm tall, would certainly give the opposition some headaches.

He is a good mark and kick and would provide a real target in attack.

Blues take wrong tack

ROBERT Walls, who was lured away from Fitzroy to Carlton because the Carlton administration thought he was a great coach, has been discarded for Alex Jesaulenko.

His dismissal raises an interesting question. The same administration selected both Walls and Jesaulenko.

Why should this new choice be better than the last? Are the administrators qualified to make the selection?

I suggest that they made a mistake and should have stuck with Walls.

I guess Jesaulenko feels as though he's the man of the moment, but he would be wise to keep an eye on the big-time back- slappers!

Jesaulenko's first statement as Carlton coach was that "we will train harder."

In the next breath he admitted in a television interview that he had only watched Carlton on TV.

One of the immediate panaceas that some "know-alls" recommend for an unsuccessful team is TRAIN HARDER.

This means let's run them into the ground each training night.

They often don't include strategy work or practise real game situations, and believe that skills training means having one ball between 30 players who run and run and touch the ball at a ratio of 1-30.

This often pleases the administrators, who don't have a clue anyway.

They just see a good blood and guts training session, and don't worry about the three hamstring injuries, a couple of corks, a groin injury etc.

Then they can always use injured players as an excuse. The mind boggles!

Swans challenge — again

IT was seven weeks ago that a revived and undefeated Swan Districts faced their acid test against Claremont.

They lost that match — and little has changed . . . they are still under pressure.

Subsequent losses to South Fremantle and East Perth, in a surprise defeat at Dampier last Sunday, means that the pressure is back on Swans to remain in the top half of the premiership table.

This week it is Claremont again — this time at Bassendean Oval — and Swans are keen to prove that they are definite final-four contenders and can give the premiership a shake.

At Bassendean Oval, they will obviously be harder to beat. But Claremont produced a scintillating brand of football in the second half last week to steam-roll West Perth.

The Tigers are one of the few sides capable of beating Swans on their home turf.

Claremont's depth in the running players should see them across the line.

Players like Peter Thorne, Gerard Neesham, Dale Kickett, Kevin Mitchell, Ben Allan, Jeremy Guard and Julian Urquhart give the Tigers an edge in that department through sheer weight of numbers.

Swans will probably include Shane Renfree and Mick Grasso in this week's team and they look far better balanced with players of that experience returning to battle.

WAFL PREVIEWS by Gary Stocks

New test for a revived Demons

IN a wave of enthusiasm, Perth swamped Subiaco for one of the biggest upsets of the season last Saturday and now face a new challenge.

Obviously there has been a confidence boost for the Demons after their defeat of the Lions and East Fremantle can expect a tough challenge at Lathlain Park this Saturday.

Mark Watson... back in top form.

The most significant aspect of Perth's return to the winner's circle was the form of 1987 Sandover Medallist Mark Watson and big ruckman Dempsey Narkle.

Both, along with Joe Santostefano, were prime movers for the Demons last year and if they can recapture the sparkle, then life will not be easy for the Sharks this week.

The Demons have relished the opportunity to return to Lathlain Park this year and while they should give East Fremantle a tough battle it is difficult to see them in front at the final siren.

East Fremantle could have an edge down the middle of the ground and with a couple of classy little men in Brad Rowe and George Christie the Sharks should continue on with the winning form they showed in Monday's Derby.

Royals chance to atone

Sean King... star player.

AT the end of the first series of fixtures, when East Perth had not savoured victory, coach Ian McCulloch could have cast his mind back and considered the one that got away.

It was against West Perth on April 22; East Perth were in touch at three-quarter time and were kicking with the breeze in the final term.

But the Royals could not sustain their effort and eventually lost by four goals.

This week they get the chance to avenge that defeat when they play the Falcons at the WACA Ground.

East Perth are on a high, winning two of their last three games, while West Perth sank to an 80-point loss to Claremont last week.

Tough trip for Subiaco

EVEN when Subiaco were at their most powerful, victories at Fremantle Oval were rare — and it is difficult to see the Lions changing that situation this week.

After a surprise loss to Perth last Saturday, Subiaco have continued their roller-coaster form. While they have beaten leading premiership fancies like Claremont and East Fremantle, they have also lost to bottom teams Perth and East Perth.

They also put in strong efforts against both Swan Districts and South Fremantle in the first round and it seems the Subiaco players relish the opportunity to play against top teams.

If this week's contest can match the one when the two teams played in Kalgoorlie, it will be worth the trip to Fremantle to view the action.

But Souths have been more stable and should win the contest

RECRUIT OF THE YEAR

Bulldog Wilson stakes claim

WITHIN the space of three months, South Fremantle's Paul Wilson has staked a claim to being called the best centre-half-forward in the WAFL.

He's an old-fashioned key position forward, who is prepared to work hard and cover ground, and has enormous talent and potential.

Now before the sceptics jump up and remind me that Wilson, at 25, has played only four league games, the Bulldogs forward did enough in last Monday's Derby to suggest that he is capable of beating any defender in the WAFL.

Wilson was instrumental in many of South Fremantle's successful forward thrusts and held his own against the best centre-half-back in the league, John O'Sullivan.

Any forward who can come out of a split points decision against O'Sullivan deserves the highest praise.

O'Sullivan, the Sharks veteran, is seldom beaten and Wilson's performance in the pressure-cooker atmosphere of such a high quality Derby demonstrates his unlimited potential.

It might seem late at 25 years of age for a player like Wilson to be making his initial impact on league football.

Complexity of football

But such is the complexity of modern-day WA football.

Wilson is one of so many success stories making a transition from Sunday league ranks into the WAFL in recent years.

I watched Wilson playing with Mandurah in the Sunday League last year when it was evident that he had the make-up of a competent key forward.

Wilson's South Fremantle teammate, Doug Gibb, is another who has stepped from an apprenticeship in Sunday football to earning healthy respect in the WAFL.

But Wilson has all the attributes required to be regarded as the competition's most effective centre-half-forward.

He has strong hands for big overhead marking and an accurate kick.

He is prepared to run to create space for himself and his flankers and, above all, he has a capacity to bring his surrounding players into the game with long, effective handballing.

Wilson had 14 effective handpasses in the Derby, which created play for his teammates.

THE BUZZ

By football's Mr Flamboyant PETER BOSUSTOW

If I can find criticism of the rookie forward, he needs to push back on to his opponent more often rather than let his defender fall away and then ride in for the spoil at the last moment.

Wilson is strong enough to contest with opposition defenders in one-on-one battles of strength and he will develop more cunning with experience.

While admiring Wilson's performance in that great Derby on Monday, it just happens that centre-half-forward was again a major problem spot for the West Coast Eagles against Hawthorn a day earlier.

The Eagles selectors, at the instruction of coach John Todd, must establish a forward line and stick to it.

The season is lost for the Eagles. Once finals are out of reach, a forward approach to next year must be taken.

Todd has nothing to lose by establishing just who are his forwards of the future and sticking with them.

Skill and awareness

If his best forward combination includes Peter Sumich, Chris Lewis and Karl Langdon, they should play every game there between now and the end of the season and develop the skill and awareness required for survival in VFL football.

Todd is shuffling his side too much, which is confusing the young players and not assisting their development.

The Eagles will continue to lose matches this season, but the public can cop that if there is some hope for the future and thought behind the development of that hope.

As it stands now, some of Todd's strategies are baffling the best of of the critics.

NEW LANGUAGE

FOOTY fans have generally looked up to the ABC for high standards of sporting commentary — and the occasional turn of phrase well worth remembering. Rookie ABC footy caller Greg Keeley set new standards for "foreign" words in his TV coverage of the Perth-Subiaco game last week. A big kick delivered by one of the competitors was described as a "humungous" kick ... or something like that!

NEW PHRASE

TALKING about new words and so forth, Eagles coach John Todd is obviously bridging the generation gap despite his passing the 51-year milestone recently. In a radio interview at the weekend he twice described players as being "up to speed" — whatever that means.

NEGATIVE WORDS

AND still on phraseology ... much has been said about the tight-lips of Sharks coach Graham Melrose, generally a man of few words. However, he was in a talkative mood on 6PR's Football Forum panel show last week — even though a lot of what he said couldn't really be put together to mean very much! Talk about answering questions without an answer.

NERVE-WRACKING

DASHING young Eagle Chris Waterman must have gone through a nerve-wracking second quarter against Hawthorn on Sunday. Recalling that his previous appearance at Subiaco Oval saw him taken from the ground at the five-minute mark of the second term (despite 11 possessions) because he apparently didn't cover his opponent enough. Well, his first-time tussle with brilliant Hawks winger Robert DiPierdomenico saw both players feature in the play, with about 10 possessions each. Waterman must have been on the lookout for runner Brian Douge for a while ... but fortunately, that wasn't the case on Sunday.

POWERFUL PEN

FOR those avid followers of The Hood's achievements, please be informed that afternoon tea WAS served in the Press Box at Subiaco Oval last Sunday. After a lack of victuals when the new media facilities were chirstened a couple of weeks earlier. the tea-lady service was back to its best last Sunday.

ONE-EYED WHISTLE

ABC sporting commentator George Grljusich is one of the game's most colourful characters ... and he's never been a fan of the men in white — especially Victorians! During Sunday's clash between Hawthorn and the Eagles, he was quite critical of Melbourne-man Ian Clayton, especially after he missed a fairly obvious push in the back to Eagles Geoff Miles — inside the WA team's 50-metre line. But George wasn't going to put Clayton down; in fact, he suggested he should go for a trip — to Moscow, where the Russians have perfected a new operation that replaces the need for glasses.

AND A MOCKER

SEEING that George Grljusich is in focus right now, this little story about his footy calling is worth a place. As Hawks ace Jason Dunstall lined up for the team's 14th goal against the Eagles — from about 30-metres out dead in front, GG commented that "he could hardly miss from here" Dunstall obligingly put the ball out of bounds.

BROWNIE'S PLOY

FIERY Malcolm Brown has had plenty to say about a lot of things lately — even the coaching position at the West Coast Eagles. Brown claims that if the Eagles are to succeed in the VFL, they need a Victorian coach — plus a few other off-field appointments. At least, that's what Victorian Ted Whitten claims Brownie told him ... it's all in EJ's column in Inside Football.

AND TED'S WOES

TALKING about Ted Whitten, the chairman of selectors of the Victorian team that beat WA in Perth last month. Whitten really bagged the changeroom facilities at the WACA Ground, describing the new visitors facilities in the year-old Southern Stand as "nothing short of disgraceful." He canned the "tin lockers and the bare, concrete floor that was filthy dirty."

Stunned silence

WEST Coast Eagles coach John Todd stunned a gathering of pressmen after Sunday's five-point loss to Hawthorn at Subiaco Oval with his choice of words to describe utility John Worsfold's injury. Todd said that Worsfold, who limped from the ground in the first half, had "busted" his ankle. He then corrected himself after the silence and said: "No, he's just twisted it."

THE HOOD

WA's most feared football critic

EAST Fremantle runner Peter Thomas has a provocative habit of running straight out onto the ground whenever some fisticuffs erupt. He claims it is to prevent Sharks players from getting into hot water; but that's not how some Bulldogs saw things on Monday. One South player landed a sharp jab on Thomas's nose and another did some damage to his T-shirt. And umpire Grant Vernon had the final say... keep out of it, Pete!

CROWD CONTROL

THE lack of stewards at WAFL games has been a talking point all season, with fans running onto the ground after the siren — even if the game hasn't finished. Such was the case at Leederville Oval last Saturday, when Claremont's Brendon Barrows marked in the forward pocket seconds before the siren went. As he prepared to take his kick, a young fan was tugging at his shirt looking for an autograph. he kicked a point and though it had no bearing on the result — the Tigers beat West Perth by 80 points — next time four premiership points may be at stake.

Shocking events

THERE was a communication breakdown with the Hawthorn trainers on Sunday when defender Paul Abbot was lying on the ground in obvious pain, with what was later diagnosed as broken leg. One trainer signalled for a stretcher, but it was three minutes before the stretcher arrived as other trainers rushed in with sponges and water bottles instead. There was plenty of confusion as the trainers first took Abbott straight over the boundary line, but then went back onto the field, carrying him down inside the arena, holding play up for more than five minutes. That looked like a deliberate ploy to prevent the game resuming while the stretcher was still on the field.

Starcevich is in disgrace

ON THE EAST COAST

Leading football journalist and 6NR commentator KEN PIESSE reports from Melbourne.

CRAIG STARCEVICH is in disgrace after Collingwood's second consecutive loss against a top five side.

The West Australian forward lasted only 2½ quarters before being dragged in the match-of-the-day against Geelong.

A poor player in the WA-Victoria State-of-Origin match, Starcevich's confidence is at an all-time low.

He had only seven possessions against Geelong and along with fellow WA player Mike Christian had little or no influence on the game.

Asked how disappointed he was in Starcevich's performance, a grim-faced Collingwood coach Leigh Matthews replied: "There are a lot of players struggling."

Matthews has consistently played Starcevich on a half-forward flank, so he doesn't have to battle with physically-stronger players in the key forward positions.

This tactic has worked well previously, despite Starcevich's disappointing '88 final series.

But in the last three weeks, he has been right out of touch.

Eight goals

First-year player Mark Bayliss could be his replacement for Sunday's game in Perth.

However, Matthews says Bayliss is not an automatic selection, despite his eight goals from full-forward in the reserves last weekend.

"Seniors full-forward Brian Taylor and Bayliss play the same position unfortunately," he said.

"Taylor was the only forward who gave us anything in the air on Saturday. When the ball was on the ground you can forget it. That's the best I can say about the six forwards."

Earlier this season Collingwood looked to haved their best goalkicking power for many seasons, with Taylor unstoppable at full-forward and with South Australian Craig Kelly, Starcevich and Tasmanian-born James Manson at half- forward.

Taylor kicked four goals on Saturday but Kelly was quiet and Manson was required to play in the ruck all day after the axing of veteran David Cloke.

The Magpies are again likely to be without skipper Tony Shaw.

Murray Wrensted is in contention for a place in the line-up after being among the best in the reserves.

Coach Matthews needs goalkicking forwards and is looking on Sunday's clash at Subiaco as a danger game, especially after the Eagles spirited comeback which almost downed Hawthorn.

Asked if this was as low as he'd felt during his three full years at Collingwood, Matthews replied: "We're fifth on the ladder. That's better than being last."

It's a tough life...

THE ruthless sacking of Carlton's premiership coach Robert Walls shows that no-one is safe in the world of football.

Walls has been unable to get the Blues firing this season, with two wins from 10 outings — and a loss to the lowly Brisbane Bears was the nail in his coffin last week.

It was ironical that Walls has defended his players all season — up till last Saturday, that is.

After the three-point loss to the Bears, Walls said that it was about time some of the players shouldered the responsibility.

"For the greater part of the season the problem with Carlton has been Walls; then it was Lofts (Wes Lofts, chairman of selectors)," he said.

"But Walls and Lofts aren't out there playing; we've had three or four players who have been fair dinkum all season."

With that scathing criticism, the players could have been in for a tough week on the track — except that Walls wasn't there to hand out the punishment.

Eagles test the Hawks

THE West Coast Eagles last Sunday became the first team to outscore Hawthorn in the second half of a match this year.

Before Sunday's game, Hawthorn had outscored their opponents by a totla of 43 points in the first halves of their nine matches in 1989 — and by a total of 365 points in the second halves of each of those games. They had trailed at half-time in two of those nine games.

By outscoring Hawthorn by 24 points in the second half, the Eagles became the first team to do so since Melbourne in Round 17 of 1988.

Sunday's second half was only the fourth time in their last 18 games that Hawthorn have been outscored in a half of football.

THE Eagles went within one kick of becoming the first team to beat a team 13 places above them on the VFL ladder.

The Eagles five-point loss was the best performance against the top team by a team holding the wooden spoon.

On two occasions, teams have defeated a team 12 places higher on the ladder — once in 1987, and once last year.

IF Hawthorn defeat Melbourne on Monday, they will stretch their winning sequence to 10 games — which would equal their best since 1975.

The last time Hawthorn won 10 games in a row was in 1983-84, starting with Round 21 of 1983, spanning the finals and ending after five rounds of 1984.

A DISALLOWED goal — judged to be after the siren in the first quarter — prevented Geelong from recording their best score against Collingwood last Saturday.

The Cats fell only two points short of their previous highest score against the Magpies, 23.18 (156) in 1940.

Geelong's target this week against Essendon to achieve another record is 174 points, which they set against the Bombers in 1936.

THE Brisbane Bears recorded their first win against one of the VFL's top three all-time clubs on Saturday.

Carlton, Collingwood and Essendon are the three clubs to have won more games — and more premierships than the others — and before Saturday, they had never lost a game to Brisbane. The Bears fighting three-point win leaves four clubs undefeated against them — Collingwood, Essendon, Hawthorn and the West Coast Eagles.

Eagles ready for change of luck

IT has been a depressing sight in the changerooms of the West Coast Eagles after the last two home games at Subiaco Oval.

VFL PREVIEW

by GARY STOCKS
of The West Australian

The agony of defeat was written on the faces of despondent players; men who contributed strongly, but still could not taste success.

The performances of the Eagles against Melbourne three weeks ago and last Sunday against Hawthorn have been indicative of the way things have gone for the club this year.

The breaks have eluded them; they have not been able to win the tight games and that has been the difference between a disaster and having a chance to surge into the finals.

They have now lost four of their last five games by eight points or less.

Against Fitzroy at the WACA Ground, they lost by eight points, Richmond beat them by two points a week later, then it was Melbourne's turn to collect victory by two points and last Sunday it was Hawthorn by five points.

Perseverance

Obviously things could have been much better had the Eagles been able to win a couple of those matches. But at least that shows the situation can be turned around with a slice of luck and perseverance.

Collingwood will certainly face a stiff test at Subiaco Oval this week.

The Eagles can break through and topple the Magpies, despite the fact that they come West after a drubbing by Geelong last Saturday and will be anxious to get themselves back on target for a place in the finals.

Melbourne and Hawthorn are arguably better teams than Collingwood and those two sides could only fall over the line at Subiaco.

As well, the Eagles should have ruckman Phil Scott available and he will make an enormous difference, particularly with David O'Connell being forced out of the team.

Peter Higgins must also come under strong consideration after his strong effort for Claremont as they crushed West Perth by 80 points at Leederville Oval last Saturday.

The Eagles will also need to maintain Andrew Lockyer at centre-half-forward. He was the player who turned the game for the Eagles last week.

Opportunities

At the same time, Steve Malaxos — who made a fine return to the Eagles team — Todd Breman, Dwayne Lamb, Chris Mainwaring and Don Pyke must continue their strong midfield form to ensure that opportunities are created for Lockyer and Stevan Jackson.

Collingwood boast some of the most skilful players in the VFL and victory will not come easily for the Eagles.

Their goal-to-goal line is exceptional and with flankers of the calibre of Peter Daicos, Tony Shaw, Gavin Brown, Darren Millane and Jamie Turner to offer running support.

But there has been a feeling in the Eagles camp this week that their luck will turn and when players start believing in themselves that will happen.

Royals veteran now coaching

FORMER East Perth defender Stephen Curtis has turned his hand to coaching in South Australia's amateur competition.

The fearless back pocket player has taken over the Port Districts A2 side and fired them up to five straight wins after losing their opening game.

Curtis, now 33, retired from Port Adelaide midway through last year after playing 125 games with the SANFL club. Add that to his 215 games with the Royals, plus his 12 for WA and one with South Australia and Curtis is one of the real veterans produced by East Perth.

After making his debut as a 16-year-old, Curtis was one of the youngest players to join the 200 Club in WAFL ranks — achieving that aim at the age of 25. If he had remained at East Perth, he could have been the first league player to reach 300 games before turning 30.

Curtis is enjoying his coaching role and is playing in the centre for his new side.

"As a coach, you really get involved with a lot of the guys, whereas as a player you tend to stick to yourself a bit because you only have to worry about your own form," he says.

"You only really enjoy coaching when you win; that's where the satisfaction comes from."

TV dollars are having big say

THERE are strong signs that the financial future of Australian Football lies in national television.

The changes that have crept into our game via fixturing have given a clear indication that, at national level, the TV dollar has a powerful say.

North Melbourne, Sydney Swans, Brisbane Bears and the Eagles continually appear in the less traditional time slots provided for national telecasts.

These four teams have a small supporter following and the Swans, Bears and Eagles own three of the newer licences.

North Melbourne are financially shaky, but ground rationalisation means night games and TV money.

The money that the VFL accrues through providing up to eight hours national TV per week over 25 weeks should see them in a very flush monetary state.

All the money in the world is no good if the quality of the product for sale keeps on deteriorating.

Their erosion of our local league should prove to the VFL that if they are concerned about Australian Football, having a plan to improve it at all levels is crucial.

In addition to grabbing our sponsorship and gate money, they have taken our top players for next to nothing and shown them off on TV to make money.

A good percentage of these TV dollars should be fed back to the lower leagues, as the public will not accept poor TV performances.

The quality of football produced at the highest level can be directly traced back to the size and quality of the base of that elite competition.

Two sides to this argument

AS A player who is nearing the end of his career, it is becoming increasingly obvious to me as a coach that players need to be competent on both sides of their body.

My own ability, or lack of it, to kick predominantly with my left foot has restricted my football.

To see the likes of Dennis Carroll being able to turn both ways and kick or hand-ball with precision is a glowing example of why players of the future need to have this ability.

The key to kicking or handballing on your less favoured side is turning.

I am sure in the back of your mind, you know you can kick perfectly on your favoured side, so you do not turn on to the opposite side.

When one-sided players are forced on to the wrong side they invariably can kick accurately over a short distance.

Great players over the years have survived with a predominant side (Barry Cable for example), but try to imagine what he could have been if he had been able to kick equally as well on his right as his left.

Bubble bursts

AFTER seven straight wins, it was inevitable that Claremont would lose one soon.

Taking nothing away from Subiaco — their desire was tremendous — the game against East Fremantle a week earlier took its toll.

In the foulest conditions I've played in for years, it was difficult to bring my leg-weary players up for the clash.

Annear eager to get back in action

HOUGHTON WINES PRESENT ...

IN THE EAGLES NEST

with 6NR's PETER VLAHOS

WEST Coast Eagles vice-captain John Annear, dropped for the first time in his 156-game VFL career, had to painstakingly watch his teammates go down to Hawthorn by five points last Sunday.

The Eagles ruck-rover, who turns 29 on Saturday week, will be eager to regain his place for this Sunday's clash against Collingwood.

Annear, who played 43 games with the Magpies before joining Richmond and then the Eagles, lists any game against Collingwood as a personal thrill.

Coach John Todd admits that Annear has struggled with his form recently, but has no doubts that he will fight back.

Annear watched the Eagles-Hawks match sitting alongside Todd.

Unenviable

"Every now and then it doesn't hurt an individual to look at a game from the other side," claims Todd. "I think John is trying too hard in order to help the team through its current rough patch."

Annear, together with Dean Turner, have been the Eagles tagging specialists this season — and he admits that it sometimes can be an unenviable task.

"When you are trying to get back into form and be more positive in your play, it makes it difficult to be a tagger" he says.

"It's a hard role to play because it curtails your natural flair." Annear added that Turner deserved a lot of credit for the tagging job he did on John Platten last Sunday.

Annear is too good a footballer to be out for long and it's fair to say that his bad run with injury early in the season has hindered his performance.

Eagles pair will be missed

THE Eagles are certain to go into Sunday's game against Collingwood without the services of captain Murray Rance and vice-captain John Worsfold.

Rance has aggravated a rib complaint, while Worsfold has a sprained ankle. Ruckman David O'Connell, who dislocated his shoulder, will be out for at least two weeks.

On the brighter side, the Eagles, will welcome the return of Phil Scott, whose last game was against Richmond at VFL Park on May 13.

Double dose for Bulldogs

EAGLES coach John Todd ordered training for Monday morning after Sunday's loss to Hawthorn — as he wanted the players to watch the Foundation Day Derby.

The Eagles have a strong Fremantle connection — but it was a double disappointment for the Bulldogs players in the camp.

Peter Sumich and Stevan Jackson ventured out on to the ground at three-quarter time to hear South Fremantle coach Stan Magro address his players, but all to no avail as the Bulldogs copied the Eagles by going down by five points.

Triple milestones

Three Eagles players will achieve the same milestone this Sunday.

Michael Brennan, Chris Mainwaring and Geoff Miles will all play their 50th VFL game with the Eagles.

Miles has played 80 games in the VFL having started with Collingwood, where he played 31 games.

Dean Turner... could be asked to tag again on Sunday.

IAN MILLER

Former VFL, WAFL star

Turner shows his tagging style

WEST Coast Eagle utility player Dean Turner would agree that this season hasn't been his most consistent — but he had to be pleased with his game against the Hawks.

Turner, a skilful and quick player, was given the role of tagging Brownlow Medallist John Platten and the Eagle came out on top of the dangerous Hawk.

Tagging any player is difficult, but more so a player of Platten's class. The mop-haired rover was a livewire in the first quarter, but Turner's concentration and confidence grew as the game progressed to the point where he was a very constructive player for the Eagles.

Disposal

The area that impressed was Turner's good vision which resulted in some fine disposal by him.

The relative stats show the result of what was an absorbing duel. Turner finished with 15 kicks and six handballs, while Platten — always a prolific ball-getter — had 21 kicks and four handpasses, though many of his kicks were forced under pressure.

The Eagles selectors hope that Turner can continue his good form into future games...so how does the name Peter Daicos sound for this week's game against Collingwood, Dean!

Lockyer's revival

THE switch of Eagles big man Andrew Lockyer to centre-half-forward was a winner — or almost — against Hawthorn.

The troublesome key forward position has plagued coach John Todd for two years.

Lockyer, a natural forward-line player, showed plenty of spirit and the ability to run straight at the football. It is vital that centre-half-forward provides that input and Lockyer did just that.

He was assisted by players moving the ball on quickly, giving him space to move into.

Peter Sumich also showed fine form in the last quarter when he returned to the forward line. His leading, marking and kicking skills made him the best forward in the WAFL last year and he looked at home there after a stint in defence.

Every week is another game, but Sumich and Lockyer have the ability to be successful applicants for the two key forward roles.

The form of Steve Malaxos, after four weeks off with injury and Guy McKenna was great, with McKenna confirming that he is one of the best and most skilful defenders in the VFL.

Derby has all the old tradition

FOOTBALL fans in Fremantle believe that the best matches occur in the traditional Derbies...and Monday's great Foundation Day clash was no exception.

The game was a classic — 41 goals scored; the lead changing three times in time-on and the result coming right on the siren.

A fitting result would have been a draw, but East Fremantle supporters would disagree—while South Fremantle fans probably reckon they were hard done by.

There were some outstanding individual performances, with John O'Sullivan (centre-half-back) superb for East Fremantle, backed up by clever goalkicking from Neil Lester-Smith, a solid effort in defence from young Craig MacLean and then Clinton Browning's pressure mark and goal to clinch the game.

Leadership

And don't forget the gutsy leadership shown by Sharks skipper George Christie.

The Bulldogs were well served by big Craig Edwards and the desperation and run of the Collard trio, Brad, Derek and Cliff, was matched by the pace and skill of the Rioli brothers, Maurice and Willie.

It was yet another thrilling derby that just had to finish on a controversial umpires decision!

Dunstall's dash

TWO weeks in a row the Eagles have had to combat two of football's best full-forwards in Tony Lockett and Jason Dunstall.

Though contrasting in style, both display unbelievable strength, with Dunstall, particularly, showing great agility.

He is an excellent leader to the ball and a couple of passes he received last week were superb; no full-back could have stopped Dunstall from marking.

Dunstall kicked 7.5 for the match, but Michael Brennan did a good job. He readily accepted the challenge, matched Dunstall physically and gave no quarter.

Legendary Hawk champion Peter Hudson was in the Press Box at Subiaco Oval last Sunday and was well-pleased with the style shown by Dunstall.

Gary Buckenara... reigned supreme on Subiaco Oval — again.

Bucky just loves his old ground!

HAWTHORN'S Gary Buckenara always saves his best for Subiaco Oval and last Sunday was no exception.

The Hawks ruck-rover picked up possessions at will, gathering nearly 40 for the day.

The former Subiaco player has been a real success with the Hawks and should notch up his 150th VFL game later this year. He will turn 31 in July and has one more year of his current contract to serve.

Speaking to him last week, I got the strong feeling that next year could just about see him out.

I'm sure Hawthorn will monitor that possibility closely and if his enthusiasm and current form continues, there may be some gentle persuasion.

One thing is for sure — when Bucky does retire from the VFL he'll head back to reside in sunny Perth.

Peake in peak form

EAST Fremantle's tough veteran Brian Peake has probably played in nearly 50 Derbies in his time... and he loves them.

Bomber was naturally all smiles after the Sharks snatched the points from South Fremantle on Monday... and his cool, precise play was a feature.

"That's how Derbies should be played," he said. "Tough and fast, with a few fisticuffs and some controversy at the end.

"That's what footy's all about," said the 286-game veteran.

"The crowd was great and I got a real buzz out of that game."

BENNETT'S BURST

By ROBERT BENNETT
of The Sunday Times

Umpires have to live with the criticism

UMPIRES are always going to be fair game for criticism.

It doesn't matter whether it be basketball, football, cricket or any other sport — there will always be bad decisions. And they can prove costly for some teams.

On the weekend, we saw a couple of situations where umpiring decisions virtually decided the outcome of the game.

In the derby at East Fremantle Oval on Monday, there will be talk for a long time as to whether a 50-metre penalty was justified over alleged time-wasting.

It enabled East Fremantle to go into a scoring situation and steal the game from South Fremantle after the Bulldogs put up a great fightback to take the lead in the dying stages.

Decisions

At Subiaco Oval on Sunday, many in the media box groaned when they saw that Ian Clayton was one of the umpires in charge of the match.

They feel that he has put in some pretty ordinary performances when it comes to Eagles games.

There were two decisions by him that proved costly in the final stages of the duel against Hawthorn.

The first was when Todd Breman was shoved after he took a strong mark. Clayton indicated a puch. Breman, who tumbled to the ground, thought he had been paid the mark.

Galling

When he handballed to a team-mate running goal-wards, Clayton blew the whistle and bounced the ball.

But the one that was galling, was the free kick paid to Jason Dunstall that gave Hawthorn breathing grace late in the last quarter.

If you looked hard enough, there was possibly a free there. But when you consider some of the blatant ones that went unpaid during the game, it was really a wimpish decision.

Some would say a hometown verdict.

Because of the arbitrary nature (umpires like to call it interpretation) of umpiring, there will always be bad decisions.

If umpires were to pay every infringement, then the game would never flow.

But the thing that some fans find hard to take is the inconsistency of umpires.

And there is far too much of that happening, particularly at VFL level.

JEANS IS TOPS

THEY probably threw away the mould when they created Hawthorn coach Allan Jeans.

It's a toss-up between him and John Kennedy who is the coaching gentleman of the VFL.

After the game on Sunday, the media were treated to something you rarely find in football. Jeans paid a tribute to the Eagles. There was no gloating or making excuses that his team had just fallen across the line.

He expressed real sympathy for the Eagles.

The true professionalism in the man also was on parade.

Statistics

He offered his club's statistics to the media to view.

He even pointed out, why in Hawthorn's assessment, the Eagles had been able to turn the match around — their ability to win the ball from the centre more often.

It also shows how Jeans does his homework.

Contrary to their respective positions on the premiership ladder, Jeans was aware that Hawthorn would be in for a tough match.

He had watched the Eagles against St Kilda the previous week and had seen plenty of endeavour in their game.

The difference then had been Tony Lockett... and on Sunday it was Jason Dunstall.

Macca searches for Royals answers

FROM WHERE I SIT

Wheelchair sports critic BILL MATHER-BROWN

IF it's hard to keep a winning team winning, how difficult is it to fire up a losing team?

That was the question I put to East Perth coach Ian McCulloch, a tough no-nonsense man who is breathing a little easier this week after their surprise win over Swan Districts ... but still a coach with a challenge.

The Royals appear destined to be on the ropes for some time to come, though Sunday's win shows that they can obviously perform well together as a team.

McCulloch knows that he is fighting from an unenviable position, but he is far from despondent. In fact, he is optimistic about the future and can see signs that suggest the Royals are on the eve of a resurrection.

"Being used to winning can be detrimental in a situation like the one I faced when I joined the Royals this year," said McCulloch, a former East Perth and Fitzroy ruckman.

"I had a very good run with Wanneroo, in the Sunday League and I only had to urge them on to maintain the winning streak that ultimately took them to a premiership.

"When I took over at East Perth, things were not going well. I tended to keep pointing out to the players the things they were doing wrong and the frequency of those talks had an adverse effect."

Confidence

"A lot of them started to lose confidence and were not prepared to try anything that they thought I might disapprove of.

"My approach was pretty negative and obviously wasn't working, so I had to change direction. I had to encourage them more; let them be more innovative and have more of a go.

"This is now paying dividends and by the start of next season, we should be competing with the best teams as the players will believe in themselves more."

McCulloch is quick to point out that many of his players are still in the 19 to 21 age bracket and only three — Grant Campbell, Ray Ewen and Mal Bennett — are in their late 20s. Even captain Glen Bartlett is still only 24.

"The young guys are being used as front-line troops," says Macca.

"In reality, they should still be learning and some of them could still be playing support roles. It's to their credit that they are performing fairly consistently, even if they're not winning every week.

"We are not that far behind the other teams.

"A couple of times this year we have been in a position to win, but things swung against us purely because of a lack of concentration."

Organiser

McCulloch points to the desperate need for a mid-field organiser such as Gerard Neesham or Peter Thorne. A good hard-running player working across the centre of the ground would help stabilise the team.

McCulloch looks at the area between centre and half-forward as he tries to find a formula to trigger more successful attacking moves.

"It's somewhere there that we are going wrong," he says.

"We do well in defence and even out of the middle, but haven't always finished it off.

"We'll find the answer and when we do, we'll cause plenty of trouble for other sides."

In the meantime, McCulloch will be encouraging his rookie Royals to relax a little more and keep searching for those lucky breaks to swing their way.

Breman justifies Todd's faith

TAKING STOCK

By GARY STOCKS of the West Australian

IT was about three weeks ago, after a hectic Eagles training session, that John Todd dropped a hint that Todd Breman, the club's No. 1 draft choice, who would soon surprise his critics.

Todd was contemplating selecting Breman to play against Richmond, despite some poor form with Subiaco.

"Did you see the way he hit the ball during that exercise," said an enthusiastic Todd. "He can play, don't worry about that. He'll prove a few people wrong."

At the time, it was easy to doubt Todd's assessment of Breman, but during his coaching career, Todd has rarely been wrong in player assessments.

Sure, there have been a few good players who have been in Todd's stable and left because they could not handle his technique. But there are not many who have made a name elsewhere.

New role... Todd Breman moves to the midfield.

On the other hand, Todd has revived the careers of a few players who had been rejected by other clubs.

So when Todd gives a player a wrap, you generally take notice.

A couple of weeks down the track and you have to agree with Todd. It's as if he was gazing into a crystal ball.

In the last fortnight Breman, despite failing to produce his best with Subiaco in the lead-up games, has been in tremendous touch for the Eagles.

When recruiting, most people expected the former WAFL top goalkicker to replace Ross Glendinning at full-forward. Not so; Todd had other ideas for the free-wheeling Breman.

In the last two games, against St Kilda at Moorabbin and Hawthorn at Subiaco Oval last Sunday, Breman has been rotated through the centre and has relished the opportunity.

It must be remembered that Breman began his league career with Subiaco as a wingman and showed promise in that position.

However, the Lions felt he needed to tighten up his defensive game and he played for a time as half-back flanker.

It wasn't until much later that he became a full-forward and broke the 100-goal barrier in 1987.

Breman has now decided to concentrate his sporting activities around football, rather than trying to combine his bid for regular inclusion in the powerful WA Sheffield Shield cricket team.

There is little doubt he had the ability to play league football and Sheffield Shield cricket, but these days ability is not enough. Dedication and fitness, demanding many hours of training, are extremely important.

Breman showed against Hawthorn that Todd could be right and the people who criticised the selection of the sporting all-rounder as the club's No. 1 draft choice, could be surprised.

He has shown in his work as a forward that he has a strong pair of hands and can kick the ball over great distances.

And his kicking skills will be welcomed in the Eagles midfield.

That has helped eradicate the sloppy cross-cross pattern which develops when teams are losing. Breman kicks the ball straight down the middle and pinpoints his 50-metre passes.

FOOTBALL FACTS

By top WA football historian DAVE CLEMENT

ROYALS CHALLENGE

EAST Perth and West Perth meet this week at the WACA Ground for the first time in nearly 50 years.

It was June 29, 1940, when they last met at the cricket ground, 153 meetings ago.

The first time they ever met was also the WACA (in 1906), but you would never guess where their second game was played.

It was Fremantle Oval of all places.

They met three times in the next year, 1907, and all those games were played at Claremont Showground.

It wasn't until 1910 that the Royals and Falcons met at Perth Oval and not until their 25th meeting (in 1915) that they first played at Leederville Oval.

All Square

HALF-WAY through round nine last Saturday night, I tallied up the home and away winners for the season.

In 34 games played it was all square with 17 visiting teams successful.

It was seven years ago when away teams won more games than the home side for the only time in WAFL history.

Medal puzzle

FROM time to time I've been asked to identify medals and trophies bearing initials of football clubs.

Last week Geoff Havercroft, from the WACA, told me of a medal inscribed WAFL and issued to S.F. Barnes in 1902.

Barnes, I'm told, was Australia's greatest fast bowler of his time. The present owner of the medal lives in London.

How low can they go?

A READER asks what is the lowest winning score?

In the days before behinds were introduced in 1898, there were many instances of one goal being enough to win a game, but since then the lowest winning score was Subiaco's 1.8 to beat Perth 1.7 on May 21, 1910.

More close encounters

A FIVE-POINT loss to Hawthorn last Sunday plus two two-point losses to Richmond and Melbourne might give the Eagles a legitimate claim to being unlucky.

Well, what about this. In 1928 Footscray lost two games by a point, one by three points and one by four points.

They did, however, win three games by a point, two games by two points and two games by four points.

Eleven of the 18 games they played that year were decided by less than one goal.

No advantage

THE home ground was no advantage to the Falcons last week as Claremont kicked their second highest score against West Perth (171 points). Their best score of 225 points was also recorded at Leederville.

Haydn Bunton... in a rebuilding stage.

Lions will rise again

DORRO'S DIARY

By GRANT DORRINGTON

HAVE the great days of the modern Subiaco football teams gone?

This is the question many Lions supporters and football followers in general are asking.

It didn't seem long ago that the Lions were the easybeats of WAFL football, who struggled for success during the 60s and 70s.

The 1980s brought football's biggest turnabout, both on and off the field.

From bankruptcy to financial security, from bottom of the ladder to two premierships, is a football story that will take a long time to be equalled.

The success of any club begins off field.

Without an efficient administration for planning, there can't be success.

Subiaco's success began in their boardroom when the directors sat down to select the people who were to put their plan into action.

Michael Flanagan as general manager and Trevor Nisbett as football manager became the Lions' the key off field men to pull the club together.

Haydn Bunton, Wayne Loxley and Eddie Pitter made up the coaching staff, all men with strong character and football knowledge.

Season '89 has seen the Lions struggle to be winners let alone maintain their standing at the top of the WAFL competition.

Although the season still has a long way to go, the Lions aren't showing enough team commitment to win the premiership.

Subiaco's glory years were planned and built around midfield skill and run.

Laurie Keene and Phil Scott were the Lions big men that controlled the midfield aerial supremacy, creating the opportunities for runners such as the Taylor brothers, Phil Lamb and Peter Featherby to create havoc carrying the ball into their forward zone.

Club bond

Unlike VFL football, where strong clubs such as Hawthorn can create a tremendous club bond among players, and then reward them financially, WAFL clubs always know that the key players they have developed will not remain with them.

Replacing great players doesn't happen overnight.

Laurie Keane is an example of this. His influence almost single-handedly won the '88 premiership for the Lions.

Rebuilding is a football mode in which WAFL clubs will always find themselves.

The Lions are in the process of regrouping and restructuring their manpower.

Finding the right balance is going to take time.

The strength and future standing of the Lions will never wane while they continue to follow football's golden rule: "Off field strength of men leads to the team's on field success."

Subiaco have the same people in control as in their glory days.

Those men will not allow the club to slip back to the barren years of previous decades.

Careful attention to detail and planning will again make the Lions a power, perhaps even before this season is over.

Geary has two doses of disappointment

IT was a tough weekend for Richard Geary.

The out-of-favour West Coast Eagle lost two games by one kick in two days.

Geary was at Subiaco Oval on Sunday to watch his VFL teammates lose to Hawthorn after a spirited second-half fight-back.

The Eagles, trailing by 41 points in the third quarter, recovered to lead the reigning premiers for 12 minutes in the final term. However, the Hawks hit back to salvage the four points.

In the tense Fremantle Derby, Geary played a big part in South Fremantle's final quarter fight-back, which saw them recover from a 27-point deficit half-way through the quarter.

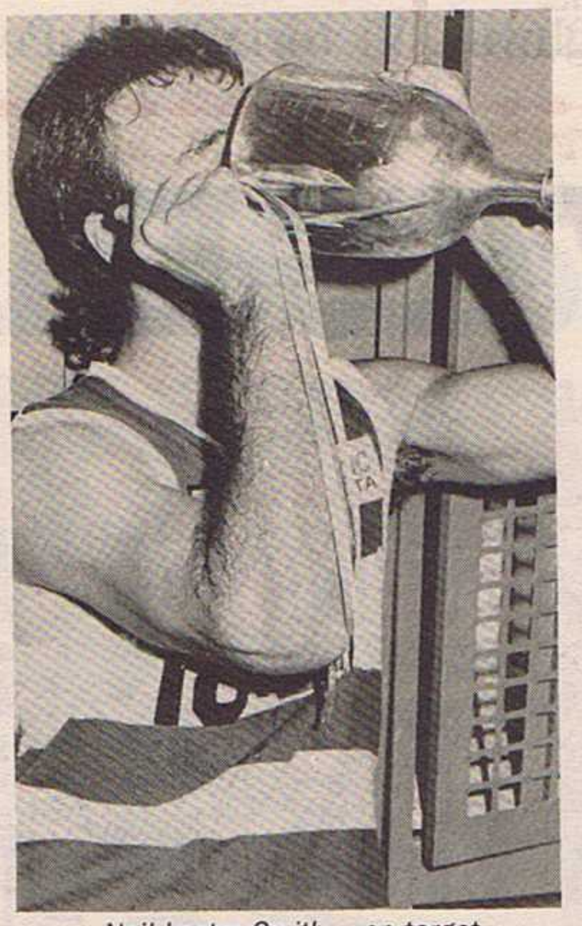
The Bulldogs rover kicked one goal and had a hand in two other majors in Souths five-goal surge. Geary kicked 5.1 for the match and his goal gave the visitors a three-point lead at the 27-minute mark. Despite another goal from teammate Derek Collard, South Fremantle could not hold onto their slender advantage, with replies coming from rookie John Lawrence and veteran Clinton Browning.

Geary said afterwards that he could not believe the way things had gone.

"At the 20-minute mark, I didn't think we had a hope of getting close to them," he said.

"But I thought we were going to win when we hit the front.

"The same thing happened on Sunday."



Neil Lester-Smith... on target.

Lester-Smith comes up trumps

The East Fremantle forward posted six goals — but not till after he had survived two spells on the interchange bench.

"I haven't been playing too well and I wasn't surprised to start on the bench," said Lester-Smith.

"So when I got a chance half-way through the first term, I was pretty keen to do something.

"I kicked one goal, but then I found myself back on the bench for the start of the second term. Thank goodness I was only there for five minutes."

Lester-Smith then regained some of his traditional goal-kicking craft as he drifted dangerously around the forward line, producing some magic goals at just the right time.

Rookie thrives in the Derbies

EAST Fremantle rookie Craig MacLean is fast-becoming a player for big occasions.

The 17-year-old half-back has been among the best players in successive Foundation Day Derbies — despite having just two league games between those appearances.

MacLean made his WAFL debut in the 1988 derby at Fremantle Oval and was immediately heralded as a future star.

But after consecutive appearances against Perth and Swan Districts, he struggled to hold his league spot.

MacLean was making his 1989 debut last Monday when the Sharks beat South Fremantle by five points in a nail-biting finish at East Fremantle Oval.

Rebounding

The youngster gave a superb display, often negating the Bulldogs in attack and then rebounding the Sharks forward again.

MacLean, who was in the 1987 and 1988 Teal Cup teams, said that Monday's game was the best he had played in.

"Last year the match was at Fremantle Oval and Souths crowd lifted them at the end and they beat us. But today it was our ground and our crowd and we won," he said.

"There were no stars for us, everyone played well.

"I just hope I can keep my place and be in the team that wins the premiership."

Ironically, MacLean played a lot of his junior football in the South Fremantle zone.

The Applecross High School student could not play in his own district because of study commitments, so he played for Hilton Park, in the South Fremantle district.

MacLean also showed a good understanding with another rookie in John Lawrence, which stems from their playing days together with the Rossmoyne under-17s.

Derby "veteran" Craig MacLean with Sharks fan Nathan Nunn.

Maskos talks his way into new role

A SYMPATHETIC coach enabled South Fremantle's Arthur Maskos to feature prominently in Monday's thrill-a-minute Derby.

Maskos has struggled for a regular league game in recent years, often having to be content to come off the interchange bench and plug a hole.

He was generally regarded as a "fill-in" defender, but earlier this year he appealed to coach Stan Magro to give him a go at ruck-roving.

"I've been doing an apprenticeship on the ball in the reserves and I felt I'd go alright if I was given a chance in the seniors," he said.

"I asked Stan to give me a shot at ruck-roving and even though I can't run on the ball all day because of my stamina, I believed I'd be useful in short bursts."

Magro listened to the tough 24-year-old, who made his senior debut back in 1985 and he produced a strong game on the ball, capped off by three goals — quadrupling his previous tally from 41 league games.

"I've had a fair bit of goal-shooting practice at training and I'm pleased it paid off," Maskos added.

Another Rowe shows tenacity

Young talent... South Fremantle's Willie Rioli has the front position in this duel with his East Fremantle rival, David Rowe.

EAST Fremantle second-year player David Rowe played a small, but important role in the Sharks thrilling five-point win over Port rivals South Fremantle on Monday.

Rowe, kept on the bench in the first half, found himself outnumbered by Bulldogs three-to-one several times as Souths made their final-quarter surge.

However, he was never found wanting and contested fiercely enough to enable his teammates to recover in defence.

Rowe (no relation to teammate Brad Rowe) was in his first appearance of the season after playing 12 league games in 1988 and quickly realised what was required of him.

"I knew I was being outnumbered, so all I could do was go for it," he said.

Rowe added that the crowd played an important part in the final outcome.

"When they cheered, the sound was deafening out on the field," said the midfielder.

"We had a big build-up for this game and it was more exciting than I imagined."

Evans, who has missed just one game this season (he had chickenpox) wants to wear the No. 7 guernsey, but the brilliant midfielder is biding his time.

The Muresk Agricultural College recruit — where he played G-grade last year — started this season in the No. 43 jumper, but recently switched to No. 28.

Evans said that No. 7 had been his favourite number since he was a seven-year-old playing under-9s at Dalkeith-Nedlands, where a team-mate was Don Pyke, now with the Eagles.

"He was wearing No. 7 and when he left the side, it was given to me," said Evans.

"But when I joined Claremont I was happy with No. 43 because four plus three adds up to seven.

"Then I was offered the No. 28 jumper because Phil Gilbert had gone back to Mt Barker. I took it because seven goes into 28 four times."

Evans could find himself in Allan's guernsey next season, because the classy centreman is certain to graduate to VFL ranks.

Ironically, Evans thinks that Allan may have been a team-mate of his in that under-9 team and it was Allan who recommended him as a possible league player to coach Gerard Neesham.

Consistency

In the meantime, Evans is concentrating on the more important task of playing consistent football.

"I'm trying to get myself fitter," Evans said.

"Muresk College is on holiday at the moment and I've been swimming, running, doing weights, water skiing and this week I think I'll play about four games of golf.

"I was certainly happy to play out the four quarters against West Perth. Gerard's used me mostly off the interchange bench this season and that was the first time I've stayed on for the whole game.

"Hopefully, if I can get myself fitter I will find more consistency."

Mitchell on a winner

EXCITING Claremont half-forward Kevin Mitchell showed his thoroughbred football breeding in helping demolish West Perth at Leederville Oval last Saturday.

The wiry Mitchell, who could not beat the weight barrier to succeed as a jockey, is the brother of 1984 Sandover Medallist Michael Mitchell.

After a two-game spell with the Tigers in 1985, Kevin returned this season for a "serious dip" at league football.

The 26-year-old, who took 14 marks against the Falcons, said: "It was probably a crazy move to go home to Carnarvon after two games in 1985.

"This was my third game back and I feel like I'm just slotting into the groove. I didn't have a full pre-season and I feel that I could have worked harder today."

Guernseys

Mitchell, who is wearing his third guernsey number in five league games — 47 in 1985 and 45 this season before Nicky Yarran's departure to East Perth left No. 29 available — gathered 24 possessions including 21 kicks to be among the Tigers best three players.

It was also one of Claremont's most complete performances of the season as they kicked an impressive 27.9 (171) to blitz the promising Falcons 12.19 (91) by 80 points.

Mitchell capped his personal performance with goals in the first and final quarters.

He said that most of the credit for Claremont's success must go to coach Gerard Neesham.

"He's certainly the best coach I've ever played under," he said. "Gerard treats you like a person and is always interested in your views. That's why all the players respond to him so well."

Power of the Port

THIS week's Foundation Day Derby revived plenty of memories about great Derbies of the past — and we recounted several in last week's Westside. East Fremantle director Len Anderson recalled another famous aspect of Fremantle football when interviewed by Colin Minson in radio 6NR's Memory Lane segment on Saturday. Anderson flashed back to 1958 when the two Fremantle sides came together to play the six other WAFL teams in an exhibition match — and won.

SHARK SEARCH

EAST Fremantle are tracking down players who played under premiership coach Ron Alexander between 1982 and '86. The Sharks are having a "Ron Alexander Ragtime Rogues" cabaret in the club rooms on June 24 and they want as many of those players to attend as possible. East Fremantle general manager Bob Uittenbroek says that more than 150 footballers played in the league and reserves competitions in that period. "However, we won't bother contacting Tim Zoehrer, who's on the Ashes tour of England with the Australian cricket team," said Mr Uittenbroek.

QUIZ NIGHT

ANYONE who loves a good quiz night should be at the East Perth Football Club on Wednesday, July 19 for the WA Football Media Guild's quiz night. Tables can be up to eight people and tickets are $5 a head. The quiz master, ABC football commentator Trevor Jenkins, will begin asking questions at 7.45pm, so don't be late. Inquiries to Lew Natham on 381 9092.

Old habits die hard

SOUTH Fremantle general manager Brian Ciccotosto retired from league football in 1978, but the 211-game rover still works out every morning in the Bulldogs gymnasium.

The early-bird GM arrives at Fremantle Oval at 5.30am every weekday, accompanied by long-time friend Joe DePetra, of club sponsors Petra Constructions.

The two warm-up with eight laps of the oval followed by 10 minutes of exercises before pumping some iron.

Cicco, who follows that work-out with a well-balanced breakfast, said: "It's something I've been doing for a long time and I can't see any reason to change the habit."

COMMONWEALTH BANK. presents ...

The rewards are attractive

IT is natural and understandable that we relate with enthusiasm and a degree of bias towards our particular sports.

In so doing, we tend to imply that Australian Football is the most spectacular and skilful of the sports and our exponents make more sacrifices, train harder and are subject to more stress and injuries.

Some of these perceptions may be true; others most definitely are not.

EXPOSURE

We should remember that in return for their sacrifices, Australian Footballers in the higher echelons are well rewarded financially.

Consider swimmers. They are amateurs who have the misfortune of being involved in a sport which has little the exposure except during Commonwealth of Olympic Games. And the financial returns are non-existent.

Take the case of Olympic gold and silver medallist, Duncan Armstrong — surely the equivalent of a $100,000-plus a season performer in our sport. To represent Australia, he gave up any realistic chance of a career and virtually became dependent upon his parents.

His training schedule pales any Australian Football program into a sobering perspective. This is it — six days a week!

|---|---|
| Rise at | 4.30am |
| Swim training/gym schedule | 5am-8am |
| Breakfast/rest | 8am-9.30am |
| Roadwork/gym | 9.30-11.30am |
| Mid-morning meal | 11.30-noon |
| Sleep | noon-2pm |
| Lunch | 2pm |
| Swim training | 3.15-6.30pm |

Similar sacrifices are made by amateur athletes, gymnasts, rowers, weight-lifters, cyclists and canoists, with only the cyclists having any realistic chance of obtaining a meaningful financial reward.

Despite the exposure to injury—when most contracted players are paid anyway—footballers are rewarded most generously for their efforts.

It can be legitimately argued that so they should be, but matters should be kept in perspective.

The should only be paid on a scale related to the ability of Australian Football to generate money.

It has also been a contention of mine that our sport has a peculiar ability to create superstars in what is essentially a team sport. It has always been a source of wonder how we have created a system where players are attuned to paying one member of a 20-man team say $5,000 (and in the cace of one recent Brownlow Medallist, a staggering $9,000 a game!), while the other only marginally least important team members get around $600 a match!

But whatever they receive, they should thank their lucky stars for the fact that they play Australian Football.

Coaching plea from Jeans

EVERY Coach knows that getting his players to talk out on the battle ground is a must if the team are to succeed...and Hawthorn maestro Allan Jeans is no exception. Talking to a group of Coaches Association members after Sunday's clash with the Eagles, Jeans emphasised the need to develop a lot of talking between players. He told the story of how one of his former players came to him after a brief stint of coaching and complained that it was too hard to get his charges to communicate properly. Jeans said that in his more sarcastic moments, when trying to urge his players to talk more, he would look up at the heavens and plead: "Dear Lord, let me live long enough to see all my players take on coaching."

IT'S just as well that there are no unions in football otherwise most WAFL clubs would go to the wall — and East Fremantle are no exception.

Running a football club in today's tight financial world is no 9-5 affair ... it's more of a love affair, with staff working long hours and volunteers donating their time for the benefit of their beloved club.

East Fremantle's long-serving general manager Bob Uittenbroek seldom leaves the club before nightfall.

"It's no different for any of my colleagues at the other seven clubs," he says. "A general manager's job is never done and if I stayed till my desk was clear, I'd never get home."

Mr Uittenbroek's time is taken up in administration matters, answering queries from members, attending to sponsors, solving problems in the club and social hall functioning and helping co-ordinate a wide range of promotional activities.

"It's a job I love," Mr Uittenbroek says. "But I wouldn't recommend it to anyone who wants to work regular hours."

Secretary

That opinion is shared by the GM's secretary, Mrs Lois Martin, who describes herself as the chief cook and bottle washer.

Mrs Martin, whose husband is a minor club sponsor, co-ordinates numerous activities and attends to guests and sponsors on match days.

An experienced office worker, she says that football clubs are totally different to any other organisation she has worked for.

"There's a big personal involvement and the hours encroach on your personal life," says Mrs Martin.

"But because it's like that, it's also an important part of your life and I get a lot of pleasure out of it."

Mr Uittenbroek, a prime mover behind Old Easts becoming the Sharks in 1983, said that both membership and sponsorship have improved on last year.

Already the Sharks have arranged sponsorship deals totalling more than $150,000, while membership is up about 10 per cent.

Season tickets

"That is largely because the WAFL has permitted the clubs to keep funds generated by the sale of season tickets, which makes it easier to promote," says Mr Uittenbroek.

"People naturally prefer the money to go to their clubs, rather than the controlling organisation. It was also cheaper to take out a season ticket if you were going to attend all home games."

Double trouble... Sharks general manager Bob Uittenbroek solves a couple more problems.

East Fremantle's treasurer is part-time employee Ken Bateman, who has worked twice a week for the Sharks for the past five years.

He was recently instrumental in establishing a new computer system for accounts and membership records.

Among the port club's 80 volunteers is Doug Hume, a club member since 1955, a life member and former junior council president.

Tribute

Mr Hume, who spends five days a week at the Sharks home, was a paid a huge tribute by the general manager.

Mr Uittenbroek said: "We couldn't get by without him. Doug does a lot of running about that we don't have time to do ourselves."

Mr Hume, who was organising the latest edition of the club magazine, says that he loves helping out.

"I love the people and the players and I wouldn't leave East Fremantle for anything," he says.

Bar manager Mike Butterfield has been in the Sharks den for three years.

"Friday nights are the best," he says. "It's a good crowd, we share a lot of jokes and there's plenty of good old-fashioned football fun to help the night along."

KNOW YOUR CLUB

by GEORGE TEMPLE

TEAM-work has been the secret at West Perth over the past two seasons.

With their staff curtailed because of financial cut-backs, the Falcons were left with two salaried workers.

For general manager Alan White it has been a meteoric rise in football.

The former Como High School Youth Education Officer joined the WAFL club as development officer in 1986 after playing three league games for West Perth back in 1970/71.

He was enticed back to Leederville by John Wynne, who used White for some development work and talent spotting.

"Then when the development officer's position became available, they offered it to me," he says.

Eighteen months down the track, chief executive Graeme Pleydell resigned and Mr White was appointed G.M.

Receptionist

The other half of the Falcons admin. team is secretary Lorraine Cruickshank, 21, who started work at Leederville Oval as receptionist, but quickly progressed to office manager.

She says it is family-type team-work which has made West Perth such a strong outfit this season.

"Alan (White) is a great boss," she said. "We work well together and there's always a terrific atmosphere in the office.

"We have a laugh with the members, but the work is still getting done.

"When the cut-backs came, it was hard at first, but once we got a system going we managed to get by.

"The members have been a big help with people like Eric Prior, Ron Harrison and Joe Barron always doing jobs around the club. You've just got to ask them and they'll do it."

A keen sportswoman, Miss Cruickshank not only plays competitive squash, but also has a history in football.

While her father coached Innaloo (in West Perth's zone) she was the team runner.

Volunteers

Mr White also praised the staff and volunteers at West Perth.

"The people involved are the people who want to be involved," he said.

Financially 1989 has proved successful, with sponsorship topping the $200,000 mark.

"We're over budget in that area," the G.M. said.

"Now we're working on the membership. Traditionally, we are the strongest supported club in the competition, but over recent years as our performances on the field have slipped, so have the numbers of our members.

"Now that George Michalczyk is moulding a good team, they are coming back."

Membership at Leederville costs $50, which includes gate tickets.

Bar manager

Former East Perth reserves player Brian Beardman has crossed the line to be bar manager at West Perth.

The former bar manager at Milligans and the Subiaco Hotel, he joined the Falcons after being contacted by Mr White.

"Alan and I have been friends for years and the way football has gone this season I've no regrets," Mr Beardman said.

"The atmosphere in the clubrooms after home matches has improved immensely as the season has progresed.

"We get more than 400 poeple back for the presentations," he added.

During the week, Thursday evening is the night when Falcons loyalists do their socialising.

"George Michalcyzk has made the point of returning to the old days of announcing the team to members," Mr Beadman said "That's encouraged members back to the club and we provide a few other attractions for them.

Lorraine Cruickshank... likes the family atmosphere.

Girrawheen in winning form

GIRRAWHEEN returned to the winner's list when they narrowly defeated Swan View in a Quit Cup game.

Girrawheen held on to win by five points, 7.5 (47) to 5.12 (42), to record their first win in three games.

Kalamunda also ended a long losing streak when they beat Rehoboth, 11.13 (79) to 0.3.

It was Kalamunda's first win since their victory over Armadale in round one. It was a disappointing loss for Rehoboth, after they won their first game of the season last week.

LAST weekend was the biggest football bonanza of the 1989 football season.

The Eagles at home, along with WAFL matches spread from Saturday to Monday and Perth to Dampier, set the busy schedule for football.

Add to these senior football matches the Tip Top State 13, 14 and 15 years championships.

The championships were played over the long weekend with more than 1000 of the State's best juniors competing.

Teams from Esperance, Goldfields, South West and Geraldton to mention a few, all travelled to enable their talented juniors to play against the metropolitan boys.

These championships enable young players to compare their level of football development with their peers throughout the State.

I was most impressed with the standard of skill and team play.

There is no doubt the young players of today are playing a more running style of game than juniors of years ago.

Advanced

Their skills are in many cases well advanced for their ages.

Difference in physical size is most noticeable.

Some boys have the build of men while others have barely started to grow.

Australian football allows for these physical differences to be compensated as the smaller players have agility and pace and can often avoid direct physical contact.

The success of these weekends reflects the tremendous support given by the parents.

Voluntary helpers are the lifeblood of our game. Without their assistance and support there wouldn't be much football development.

The Tip Top championships were an outstanding success and provided all the players with an invaluable football educational experience in their quest to become league players.

Gosnells face biggest test

GOSNELLS, who are on top of the Sunday Football League premiership ladder, will be fully tested when they meet Wanneroo at Gosnells Oval this Sunday.

The Hawks are undefeated at the end of round seven.

Wanneroo have lost only one game. They went down to Maddington by one point on the opening day of the season.

The Gosnells-Wanneroo clash promises to be one of the best games of Sunday football for years.

Both teams boast quality players with both coaches having WAFL experience.

Former Perth player Steve Hargrave is coach at Gosnells and Gavin Carter, who played with South Fremantle, is at the helm for Wanneroo. However, only Carter is in the role of playing coach.

Local juniors

Both teams have relied on promoting local youth. Young players in Mark Dominish, Brian Lester, Mark Oliver and Andrew Strickland are all products of the Gosnells juniors.

The Hawks have recruited selectively this season and director of football at the club Malcolm Smith has added players who have pace and flair.

Troy Lathwell, Cam Knapton and Lawrence Winmar have all been prominent in this area.

Perhaps the key to the game will be the Gosnells half-back line of Oliver, Glenn O'Rourke and Darren Chaplin, who will be fully tested by the most potent half-forward line in the league in James Wadell, Gavin Carter and Tony Fullgrabe.

35 goals

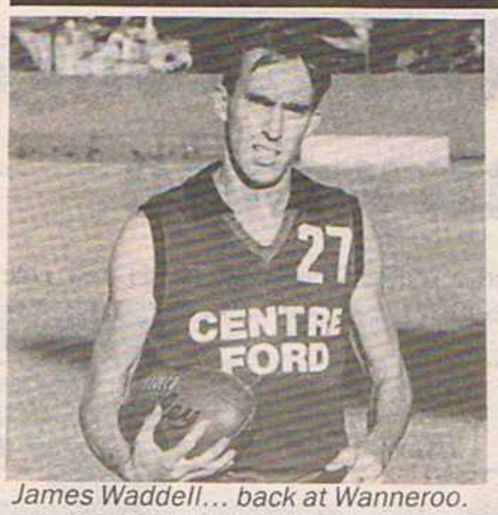
Fullgrabe has relished his role since moving from defence and his 35 goals in seven matches is evidence of this.

The ruck duels between Rob Zupanovich, Phil Latham and Bob Michaels of Gosnells against John Hathaway and Peter Rogers should also play an important part in the final result.



James Waddell... back at Wanneroo.

Other games with a bearing on the battle for the final five are the Canning versus Kenwick clash at Wyong Oval, Bentley, and Osborne Park Saints are at home to the Kelmscott Bulldogs.

Sunday marks a big day in the history of the Canning club as they celebrate their 84th year.

Past players, officials and supporters will be in fine chorus and a large crowd should see Canning win a tough encounter.

Kelmscott face an uphill battle against Osborne Park at Balcatta Reserve in a game the Bulldogs must win to continue their chances of qualifying for the finals.

Kelmscott will welcome back key forward Mark Riley and ruck-rover Colin Sibson. With the continued good form of defenders Leigh Gorton, Peter Greaves and Glen Peake, they have the ability to cause an upset.

Fixtures with no bearing on the final five are Kalamunda versus Maddington at Ray Owen and Applecross versus Thornlie at Shirley Strickland Oval.

All four clubs are unable to qualify for the finals.

Willetton should consolidate their position in the top five with a percentage-boosting win over South Perth, and Armadale, with a home-ground advantage, should prove too strong for Mandurah.

This is the year of the Tiger.

Each month you will be kept informed, per medium of this Newsletter of the activities planned for your benefit and/or entertainment, of the results achieved and most perticularly, how you can aid your club. Remember — we are not two separate groups, playing and non-playing, but one corporate body of club members.

With the appointment of Ron Wilcox as League coach and Trevor Parker seconds coach, the club is assured of astute leadership on the field. Robbie Hayward joins them to make up a Selection Committee, who will have a difficult task in selecting a team for the simple reason that so many players will be vieing for a places. A rush of recruits to the resurgent Tigers has given us a sound basis for a successful year, not to mention the stalwarts of previous seasons.

Members Subscription: This year the amount has been set at $10.00. Don't let that scare you. With free admission to ten home games ($3) and the cancellation of the weekly 20c collection ($4) it is an actual reduction of $1 on last year's fees.

Payment of players: Your committee has decided that financial players will have an added incentive. Match payments will be: Winning Game $5.00, Losing Game $2.00 for League games and Winning Game $2.00 for Seconds. As these amounts will be credited only to financial members, it will be to your advantage to become financial before the first game of the season.

Incentives: Cash awards are allotted for each match, home or away. According to the votes on Fairest and Best Cards, the top three players each week will be awarded $5.00, $3.00 or $2.00. In the Seconds, the player voted best will receive $2.00. The above awards will be presented at the Social after Home Games. Financial position. As the foregoing makes plain, we have "stuck our neck out".

We have committed the club to an expenditure of $4,000.00. Where are we to get it? Only by the whole club, each and every member and supporter, rallying to the cause, attending the after game socials, the Games Nights, the Cabarets and the "Big One" — the Singapore Trip Cabaret in July.

We have planned monthly Cabarets at Wyong Oval in the MacIntosh Pavilion. The first is on Friday, April 24th. Be there and make it a smashing success.

Forthcoming Events: Singapore Trip Cabaret — July.

President's Message: I would like to welcome our 1970 coaches and wish them every success. While I am delighted to see so many recruits added to our ranks, the retention of the stars of previous seasons is even more encourgaing. Your committee has undertaken a mammoth task this year. Support them in every way and make this 1970, the year to remember.

Sharks upset top "Dogs"

EAST Fremantle caused the upset of the round when they over-ran South Fremantle by 58-points in the Prime reserves last Monday at East Fremantle Oval.

East Fremantle, sitting in sixth spot, beat the top-of-the-table South Fremantle, 21.9 (135) to 11.11 (77).

The Sharks were inspired by an eight goal match-winning performance from full-forward Ron Adams.

"As well as being a good kick, he adds a lot of strength to our foward line," said East Fremantle coach Ron Wilcox.

Another success story was the return to football of rover Glen Moir.

Three weeks ago Moir picked up a football for the first time in over a year, when he returned to the East Fremantle training track.

A bout of glandular fever and a trip to the country had kept the former Perth player out of the game, but he showed no signs of illness last Monday when he turned in a best-on-ground display.

Consistent

Wilcox was also impressed with Guy Baxter's consistent ruck display and he is sure the big man will return to the league side when a place becomes available.

Wilcox said the rivalry between the two Fremantle sides goes right through the club and there is a lot of feeling in the reserves derbies.

Guy Baxter... playing well.

"Those feelings exist — you don't have to gear yourself up for a game against South Fremantle," said Wilcox.

"And it's always good to beat South Fremantle."

In the closest game of the round, Claremont were five-point winners over West Perth, 10.17 (77) to 11.6 (72).

East Perth put up a courageous fight to come within 14-points of Swan Districts, 15.18 (108) to 14.10 (94) and a best-on-ground performance from relegated defender Warren Nicholas steered Perth to victory over Subiaco, 18.18 (126) to 9.14 (68).

UNDER 19s

Falcons down Tigers — again

WEST Perth produced a solid effort to beat under-19s title-holders Claremont 11.9 (75) to 6.5 (41), at Leederville Oval last Saturday.

It was West Perth's second win of the season and, surprisingly, both victories have been against Claremont.

The Falcons were too good for Claremont in round two when they recorded a 53-point victory and coach Jim DiCarlo said that Saturday's win made up for a couple of near misses against other top sides in recent weeks.

In the games leading up to Saturday's success, the Falcons were narrowly beaten by top-of-the-ladder side Swan Districts and they went down by four points to South Fremantle in their last game.

"I think we turned the corner in the South Fremantle game," said DiCarlo.

"We've had a couple of disappointments and we've managed to push all of the top sides."

Advantage

West Perth definately have the wood on reigning premiers Claremont, holding a two-nil advantage, but DiCarlo says unlike the first round, his team didn't set themselves for this win.

"The guys were keyed up to beat them in the first round, but now we know how even the teams are," DiCarlo said.

"We just seem to do well against Claremont and it was nice to win."

DiCarlo was pleased with the contribution that each player made to the win and he was especially pleased with ruckman Trevor Green, Aquinas College's Jamie Merillo and David Elliot.

Perth 10.13 (73) recorded their second win over Subiaco 8.6 (54), though their four premiership points were taken off them in round one after they played an unregistered player.

Swan Districts clung to top spot with a seven-point victory over East Perth, 9.12 (66) to 9.5 (59) and South Fremantle recorded they only win of the day for their club when they defeated East Fremantle 17.8 (110) to 10.9 (69) last Monday.

Amateurs too strong for country side

State amateurs coach Paul Rafter had a magnificent start to his new role with a 10-goal victory over the W.A. country team on Saturday.

by TREVOR SCHORER

Determination, commitment and honesty were the main factors in the team's 18.9 to 8.8 performance.

This was obvious especially in the first half when the game was played at a fast pace and was pretty physical.

The key forwards were the main dangers, with Mick Rea and State Captain Justin Cook giving the amateurs a target at all times.

In the ruck, the tall Buddy Hackett was controlling the hit-outs and combined brilliantly with rover David Fare to get the ball out of the middle.

In defence, Geoff Horton had the unenviable task of stopping the country side's full forward, Ross Ditchburn, who is always a danger.

Ditchburn has the uncanny ability to gain the front position, but Horton played him close and kept his opponent to two goals for the match.

Teamwork

The teamwork out of defence was very tidy and, in particular, Bill Armstrong, Scott Uglow, Mark James and Horton combined well.

The amateurs led by 39 points at halftime and looked quicker and slicker than their opponents.

After the break the Hackett and Fare show continued and with Cook, Rea and half-forward Craig Jackamara and Dave Davies all contributing up forward, another six goals resulted.

The defence was still playing superbly and vice-captain Richard Bevan (halt-back) was unstoppable, playing with the experience which belied his youth.

In the third quarter, Rafter started using his interchange bench, taking off Cook, Rea, Jackamara and Matt McNee, all big contributors.

Aaron Bockman started well and the experience and coolness of John Price were two more factors in the big win.

The amateurs struggled a little up forward, with the exception of Danny Farac, who bagged five goals.

After the match, Rafter reminded the team of the hard work ahead when they play the combined South West side on July 1.

A-GRADE

— Top of the table reward

Top side Mt. Lawley take on second-placed University at Perth Oval this Saturday, with the winner's prize being top spot on the A-grade table.

One of the big clashes will be in the ruck division with Andrew Chapman (Mt Lawley) and Aaron Devitt (University) both in good form. The result of this contest could well decide the outcome.

Another tight finish could come in the North Beach and Nollamara game, which is played at North's home ground, Charles Riley Reserve.

The home ground will be an advantage, but Nollamara have too much all-round strength, with Clayton Lewis, Dave Davies and Dave Brown, who are hard to counter.

TIGHT GAME

Trinity-Aquinas come up against Scarborough at Ernest Johnston Reserve and this game could go either way.

Old Wesley will need to improve if they are to beat Wembley and they must stop players like Kevin Symonds, Grant Callaghan and Grant Ryan.

Wembley will have to curb Bryan Chute, Ken Pride and Aaron Bockman to give themselves a chance.

No. 1 rover, Bernie Dunn is the biggest danger in the game between West Coast and Innaloo.

Dunn has been in good form in the first half of the season and with Richard Bevan and Tim Gepp, they should be too good for Innaloo.

MILESTONE MAN

DAVE HUNTER (150 games—Maylands)

AT the age of 25, Dave Hunter is one of the youngest Maylands players to reach the 150-game milestone.

He started playing for the Rams in colts in 1981 and won the F-grade fairest and best in 1987.

Dave is the brother of Carlton champion Ken Hunter and plays the same hard-hitting never-say-die type of football.

Collegians face two strong challengers

B-GRADE

by PETER RUSH

AFTER eight rounds, Collegians Old Scotch are a game plus percentage clear of their nearest rivals and are looking the team to beat for this year's B-grade premiership.

Maylands and North Fremantle are breathing down the Lions necks and also look to be in with a big chance for the flag.

With the demise of Bayswater as a force in the last few weeks, Dianella have emerged as the side likely to challenge the top three supremacy.

After a slow start, CBC have also emerged as threats with good wins over Bayswater and Collegians Old Scotch.

Cockburn Lakes and Mt Lawley still remain as contenders for the final five, but need more consistency if they are to become threats.

Swan Athletic and Curtin are starting to lose touch with the competition and unless they can put a string of wins together, they will find themselves in C-grade next year.

Maylands play Dianella at Gibbney Reserve in this week's game of the day.

Dianella started the year in a big way, with the opening of their new bar and clubrooms, which must rate as one of the best complexes in amateur football.

But new coach Kim Sparks found it hard to get the best out of his players early in the season. The last few weeks has seen the Panthers put together some good wins and they look ready to give the competition a big shake.

Maylands have also been in awesome form over the past few weeks, with some huge victories.

The Rams, led by Harley Hayward, Paul Naughton, Ossie Dikolli, Gary Sidebottom and Wayne McKinlay, will have plenty of opposition from Dianella's big-name players in Brad O'Brien, Kim Sparks, Peter and Dave Fare, Mark Bolton and Mark Lawson.

The Collegians Old Scotch versus Bayswater game should see the Blues slip even further away from the top three. The Lions have been served well this season by Andrew Piney, Michael Fairclough, Adam Hollyack, Rob Klug, Mark Tory, Ross Sharp, Dave Barnes and Murray Brewer and should win easily against Bayswater.

Bayswater's Glen England.

Finals chance

Max Ford's Cockburn Lakes have a chance to grab a spot in the five providing they can beat Mt Lawley. Phil Botsis' Hawks have had a horror run with injuries this season and the week's break will have benefitted the side though they still may be undermanned.

CBC, charging up the ladder, have a chance against Curtin to also go into the five for the first time this season.

With Ric Zumach, Paul Piggott, Jerry Hart and Damien Cronin in good form CBC should win well.

North Fremantle should win well against Swan Athletic at Gil Fraser Reserve.

Drew Herrington, Rob Looby, Darryl Wright, Grant Nelson and Kymon Anderson have been in good form for the Magpies and should provide the impetus for North over the beleagured Swans.

HIGHLIGHTS

D-GRADE

Applecross Numbats, under first-year coach Craig Robb, are reaping the rewards of a hard pre-season.

Last week's game against rivals WACAE was a cliff-hanger with the Numbats winning by a kick on the final siren.

Coach Robb starred in his 50th game with the Numbats, playing a true captain's game.

Other in-form players are centreman Wayne Hellmrich, half-back Steve Nicolaou, who is approaching his 150th game in the next couple of weeks, and rover Paul Foley.

After a year of rebuilding, the Numbats are now a force in the league.

K-GRADE

Applecross Numbats "Special K" side are becoming a major force in this grade. Coach Kim Sunter continued his excellent form when the Special K's downed Bullcreek last week. Other players in-form were Peter Richardson, who kicked 10 goals and gave away many others, ruckman Peter Millington and half-back flanker Tim Scott.

D COLTS

Applecross Numbats colts are continuing their 1988 premiership form and are currently the side to beat. Coach Greg Lovett continues to emphasise the need for consistency from the squad. In-form players in recent games have been forward Glen Walters, goalsneak Greg Patching and rover Brian Martin.

State colts team selected

THE State colts training squad played their final trial match last weekend and it confirmed the League's belief that the WAAFL colts competition is the highest calibre under-age competition outside of the WAFL.

All the young men who took part did so with considerable enthusiasm and made the task of selecting the final 30 players very difficult.

The final team is:

Dick Fields, Dion Smith, David Mackiewicz, Simon Doherty, Paul Tierney, Jeremy Moriarty (Trinity-Aquinas), Rick Hastie, Stuart Ringholt (Innaloo), Glen Barnett, Joe Proctor, Darren Stitt, Grant Ryan (Mt Lawley), Nathan Howatt, Alec Yarran (North Beach), Chris Court, Adam Seirakowski (University), Stuart Kemp (Wembley), Sean Carey, Jim Gardener, Rob Klug, Lee Sounness, Symond Whybrow, Brad Woodruff (Collegians-Old Scotch), Brad Edwards (Dianella), Chris Milentis, Andrew Sarich (Swan Athletic), Frank Farac (Coolbinia-Yokine), Michael Crooks (Rockingham), Brett Wenn (Whitfords), Warren Sojon (Applecross).

From these, a team of 21 will be selected to play the South-West Football League on July 2 at Hands Oval, Bunbury, and a further 21 will play a Central Great Southern combined under-21 team at Claremont Oval on July 30.

Jeans unveils some of his coaching philosophy

HAWTHORN coach Allan Jeans may have been stating the obvious when he said that our game will wither away and die if it is not looked after correctly by junior coaches.

by Tania Armstrong

If the enthusiasm Jeans showed when he talked to 25 coaches after last Sunday's Eagles game was an indication, then he knows just how important good junior coaches are.

The address by Jeans was the climax to a day of coaching activities and education which began at 10am for members of the Australian Football Coaches Association and included an analysis of various aspects of the West Coast Eagles vs Hawthorn clash.

Keeping with the tradition established by the AFCA of inviting visiting Victorian coaches to share their football knowledge with coaches at the grass-roots level, Jeans took centre stage in the Subiaco changerooms.

Only the threat of missing his flight back to Victoria ended the 50-minute session by Jeans, the president of the Victorian branch of the AFCA.

"Of the 40 players who participated in last year's grand final between Hawthorn and Melbourne, only two learned their football at their senior club and they were Melbourne's two Irish boys, Jim Stynes and Sean Wight," said Jeans.

"Every other player initially learned their football from junior coaches."

"It is so important that we look after the grass roots of football, particularly when we've got so much diversion in relation to other sports."

Message

Jeans' close involvement with juniors shows that he is not just preaching his message, but practising it as well.

After arriving back in Melbourne from Perth on Sunday night, Jeans spent the night at home before heading across the Tasman on Monday to take care of the Tasmanian juniors.

He has been making the journey for around 14 years as coach of the Tasmanian schoolboys.

"The only thing that changes from the junior level of football to the top league level is pace — nothing else alters," said the coach of more than 500 league games.

"That's what stops most guys from becoming league footballers."

Jeans believes that the way for youngsters to develop pace is for coaches to teach the basic skills and then gradually build up the pace of the activity.

"See if he can handle the ball at the next speed because that's the real key to it," said Jeans.

Coaches must also teach youngsters to use their bodies in man-to-man contests as Jeans says a player who cannot use his body is an inconsistent player.

"This is what's wrong with Warwick Capper, he can't use his body," Jeans said.

"If you put any guy shoulder to shoulder with him, he has problems. But let him get two or three yards behind you, where he can get a run up and he'll take a screamer."

"He's a good athlete, but he's got no sense of body control. You watch Gary Buckenara now and how Ross Glendinning used to use his body; their use of the body will win possession of the ball."

Jeans says he looks for height and pace when he goes recruiting and he says they are two natural advantages for a player if he uses them.

And don't think that the coach of the premiership-winning Hawthorn team — the most experienced VFL side — doesn't get frustrated with his players; like all coaches.

"When I want to give it my sarcastic best, I look to the Heavens and say to my players — good Lord, just let me live long enough to see you all go coaching.

Allan Jeans... captivating.

Cronan chalks up hat-trick

FORMER WAFL player Phil Cronan has achieved a rare feat — making league status in three States.

The one-time South Fremantle and West Perth utility player has switched to South Australian club Woodville to continue his career.

The talented Cronan, now 29, has spent the last five years playing in the VFL, firstly with St Kilda and then Footscray.

"I've always had a desire to play football in the three major States because not many players have done that," says Cronan.

With 171 league games behind him, Cronan joined the Warriors this season, slotting in as a ruck-rover after adjusting to the different style of football.

Cronan made his senior debut with South Fremantle in 1979 and played in their 1980 premiership side (under coach Mal Brown) before switching to West Perth for a season with Dennis Cometti.

He quickly adapted to VFL ranks in 1984, but had a disagreement with St Kilda coach Graham Gellie after 49 games and switched to Footscray.

Cronan believes he has a few more years of football ahead of him and says he'll finish his career off in Adelaide.

Bunbury take their revenge out on Hawks

THE Bunbury Bulldogs went on a goalscoring rampage against the hapless Augusta-Margaret River in Sunday's South West fixtures.

The Bullodgs were in a mean mood after losing four premiership points during the week for playing former Carey Park coach Mick O'Brien without having the clearance papers completed.

They outscored the Hawks in every quarter and won by a mammoth 124 points — 26.15 to 5.17.

Graham Hewson showed his best form since joining the club by kicking eight goals from centre-half-forward. He was well supported by rover Mick Cleary, with four goals before being injured and wingman Kevin Bassett, who was best-on-ground.

Kim Harnes, at centre-half-back, was the best of the defenders.

The Hawks best were Dean Hick and Michael Rowcliffe, who held form full-forward Chris Slater to two goals.

Slaughter

In another one-sided affair, Harvey-Brunswick slaughtered an inept South Bunbury, 22.19 to 5.13.

The Lions opened by kicking 7.4 to two points in the first term to put the game beyond doubt.

South scored their first goal at the 29-minute mark of the second quarter and they need to re-examine their playing strength as there were far too many players who hardly touched the ball.

The goalscoring was shared around, with centre-half-forward Derek Hall kicking five to provide a focal point in attack.

Best-on-ground was star centreman Graham Jeffery, closely followed by wingman Bruno Italiano and captain-coach Mark Skehan.

For the disappointing Tigers it was extremely difficult to find good players, though Shane Strempel and Chris Raykos deserve a mention.

Comfortable

Collie continued on their winning way with a comfortable victory over Busselton, 21.14 to 13.8.

Collie opened up a match-winning lead in the first half when they led 13.11 to 4.3.

Busselton improved in the second half by matching it with the Saints, outscoring them 9.5 to 8.5.

DEVAUGH

Collie were well served by their two high-leaping ruckmen — Tony Edwards and Bruce Jackson (seven goals while resting).

Greg O'Brien was a fine player, as was defender David Lewis.

Carey Park moved closer to a final-five position when they outclassed Boyanup-Capel-Dardanup, 22.17 to 15.12.

The Panthers jumped out of the blocks with a six-goal to nil opening quarter.

The two teams matched strides from then on without the Cardies making any great inroads on the Panthers lead.

Kevin Greenmount was a good player from a half-back flank, as was veteran Terry Bruce at full-back, captain Andrew Decampo and first-gamer Lloyd Garlett.

For the Cardies, Mark Blakely won many possessions around the ground, as did rover Jamie Ninyett and ruckman Tim Batt.

Mines slide

Mines Rovers continued their slide down the premiership table when they were defeated by a tough Donnybrook side, 20.17 to 15.8.

Mines have now lost five of their last six matches and will need a reversal of form if they intend playing in the finals.

The Dons opened up a handy 27-point lead at half-time and never looked in danger of defeat.

Centre-half-forward Graham McCarthy booted six goals to be a damaging player, as was rover Shane Atherton and half-back Allan Howlett.

Wagin produce upset

A SEVEN-goal first term by Wagin enabled them to set up a match-winning lead and cause a major upset in the Upper Great Southern League by defeating Williams 15.16 to 12.11 on Sunday.

Ernie Sprigg and Courtney Sutherland contributed strongly for the victors, along with Kevin Spurr (three goals). Captain-coach Michael Kain led the way for Williams, ably-assisted by brother David (five goals), Glen Cowcher and Anthony Dowling (three goals).

Pingelly (23.16), led by ruckman Des Pauley, proved far too strong for a disappointing Lake Grace (13.12).

Others to show out for Pingelly were newcomer Rod Martin and Rovers Athol Jedda (six goals) and Robbie Kirk (three goals).

For Lake Grace, none tried harder than Karl Clarke (six goals), assisted by Peter Van Der Laan and Darryl Yates (three goals).

Boddington (32.15) boosted their already healthy percentage by thrashing a weak West Arthur (10.8).

Brothers Brett and Michael Sheary were prominent for the victors, together with Damien Marentelli and Wayne Coles (7 goals). As usual, Mark Wunnenberg and Brett Duffield were best for West Arthur.

Railways (13.16) ran out comfortable winners against Wickepin (9.13) who did their chances no good by kicking seven behinds in the first quarter.

Les Denholm and Darryl Ugle were best for Railways, with Jeff Dennis (five goals) proving a realiable spearhead. For Wickepin, Ken Martin and David Beenier battled manfully.

Railways slip out of four

NORTH Mt Barker tipped Railways out of fourth spot on the Southern Districts premiership table with a 25-point win on Sunday.

Led by Greg Saunders with another good goal haul (six this time) Norths won 16.15 to 12.14 to slip a game ahead of Railways on the table.

Best for North were Gary Pope, Ken Hunt and Nathan Ashton, while Railways best were Damian O'Meara, Wayne Shearer and Rick Swarbrick, with Rob Davies kicking four goals.

Royals had to rely on accurate kicking to hold off a dogged South Barker before winning by 13 points, 14.9 to 11.14.

Best for Royals were Larry Dwyer, Kim Crabb (five goals) and Sean Colbung, while South's good players were Steven Hooper, Jamie Back and Kevin Hardy, with Winston Williams posting four goals.

Hard work

Top side North Albany had to work hard to maintain their position with a 27-point win over bottom side Denmark, 15.11 to 11.8.

Paul Marchesi, Kelvin Stephens and Bret Hunt played well for North Albany, with Murray Wynne and Gerard Cameron bagging three goals each. Denmark's Ken Davies stayed on top of the goalkicking ladder with five majors, while Rob Studham, Gary Sinagra and Ashley Platter were their best.

Nth Pilbara take BP championship

NORTH North Pilbara won their second consecutive major carnival last Sunday with a convincing 100-point win over Fortescue in the BP Championships at Dampier.

It was a strong display by the 1988 Wesfarmers Country champions who were expected to be tested by Fortescue after they had beat reigning BP champions Newman by 52 points on Saturday.

Despite kicking into a stiff breeze, Norths were 10-point leaders at the first change and through the efforts of Ruben Miller, Jamie Mills (two goals), ruckman Bruce Jupp and half-forward Mick Kimberley, the lead was extended to 39 points by half-time.

In a best-on-ground performance, Miller helped North Pilbara kick five goals against the breeze in the third term and with Fortescue adding just three, the win was virtually guaranteed.

Both Peter O'Malley and Mills took their personal goalkicking tallies to six in the final quarter as the home side went on a scoring blitz, posting eight more majors.

North Pilbara ran out winners 21.28 (154) to 8.6 (54) with rover Rick Hockey and David Price, who was named as the carnival's fairest and best player, also performing well.

Best for Fortescue were brothers Chris and Peter Sampi.

In the play-off for third and fourth, Newman beat Broome 12.21 (93) to 8.10 (58).

The 1990 BP Championships will be held at Fortescue and a meeting will be held between Association delegates in a month's time to discuss its format.

Championship organiser Adrian Marshall said that methods of promoting the championships better would also be discussed.

"We must get things back on an even keel and look to ways of better servicing our sponsor," Marshall said.

Siberian Ginseng is frequently referred to as a "Harmonizer" or an "Adaptogen", both referring to the ability of Siberian Ginseng to generally improve and build up vitality and by adjusting the body to any present level of stress, physical as well as psychological.

Vitamin B12 is added to ACTION-Siberian Ginseng, partly because tests have shown this vitamin improves the effect of the Ginseng, and partly because this vitamin is essential in physically stressful situations.

....but WAFL constitution keeps him in

LAST Friday the eight league club presidents voted to oust Harry Morgan as chairman of the WAFL, only to find, despite their numbers, the constitution they were governed by prevented such a move.

Clearly Morgan doesn't have the wholehearted support of the clubs, and the man they want to take control, Terry O'Connor, wouldn't be likely to join the WAFL commission in any capacity other than chairman.

It's been a bad week for the WAFL, with Mal Brown discredited for not doing his sums on the Government's outlay to WA footy and divisions appearing in the hierarchy.

Restructuring was never meant to be easy!

But I guess, like you, I'm getting rather tired of the constant off-field bickering.

Despite all the distractions it's what goes on out in the middle that determines people's basic attitude to the game.

And after their spirited showing against Hawthorn last Sunday, the West Coast Eagles have given their supporters hope of a win against Collingwood this week.

Harsh reality

The Magpies aren't suited to a big, firm ground like Subiaco and, given fine weather, may be hard pressed to stay with the locals.

Yet, despite the effort last Sunday and possible victory this Sunday the Eagles must not forget the harsh reality of where they are going on the VFL ladder and how difficult rebuilding is going to be.

The first question the club needs to address is its basic philosophy. Does it intend to remain a team made up almost exclusively of West Australians?

As they stand, the draft conditions which will apply to the Eagles next season appear to ensure the recruitment of several young Victorians without league experience.

But will the club go that step further and enter the market for senior VFL players out of contract — not necessarily former WAFL players — in trades?

Much has been made of the number of Eagles coming out of contract at the end of the season but does that mean the opportunity exists for a fair degree of pruning, restructuring and cleaning out.

The prospect of so many contracts coming up for renewal would be far bleaker if the Eagles were perched on top of the table.

When people talk about the Eagles rebuilding, I don't think they can fully understand the draft.

The current crop of players can gain experience by playing but as they do, several of the senior players get closer to retirement and there's no country zone or cheque book that can provide a quick fix.

The beauty of the draft and salary cap is that it challenges your entire organisation.

TALENT TARGET... dashing Hawthorn rover John Platten has the ball in his sights — and Eagles rivals Chris Mainwaring and Michael Brennan are hot on his heels.
